In fact, as I was composing these paragraphs, I received an e-mail promotion from Amex with exactly these images in this order — Same old script: black, black, black, white woman:

These image creators obviously have no shame, creating the most unlikely “reality” possible:

Again, I need to stress the utter ubiquity of the images in these ads. Let me share with you a personal example. Five years ago, one of my children deliberately moved to a small town that is still 95% White. (I guess she was willing to listen to my race realism talks, unlike so many other White children.) When recently I drove nearly halfway across the country to visit her, her husband (it helps that he’s a Mormon) and the kids, it was just before Halloween. Here’s the image of Halloween the little town’s paper thought fit:
This choice alone speaks volumes. What rational editor would assume the Whites in this town would identify with such a photo? Indeed, the rot goes deep.

It gets worse. The same week, my granddaughter brought home an envelope from school with forms for class photos. Here is the entirety of human images on that form:
Here’s the back of the form:

Not one — not ONE — image of a White boy. Based in Minnesota, Lifetouch, the company responsible for these photos, “provides photography for families, schools, and places of worship, has over 22,000 employees, and operations in all 50 states and Canada.” It is described as “The world's largest school photography company.” Surely this photo company understands the symbolic value of images, but, alas, this is the hell our Hostile Elite has created for us Majority Whites. (Incidentally, when I went to Lifetouch’s homepage just this second, here was the banner that greeted me. You can’t make this stuff up):

!Lifetouch banner

Needless to say, my daughter bought no photos from this company. Let millions of wealthy blacks bolster this company’s bottom line.

Two days later, my granddaughter brought home more material from school: The execrable Scholastic News, which, like almost all public school education across the board, is directed at non-whites like this:
For some reason, the day my granddaughter came home, she had three copies of Scholastic News, and here are the three covers:
The Power of YET

Is there something you wish you could do? Maybe you can’t do it... YET. But that doesn’t mean you never will!

An End to Bullying

How would you feel if a bully picked on you? You might be sad or angry. You might need a kind word from a friend. One girl wants to end bullying. Read her story inside.

My name ____________________________
Normally, I'm not a quantitative guy, but in this instance I will provide numbers: On these three covers containing a total of twelve people, we find ZERO White males. In the inner two pages plus back cover, there are nineteen more people. All are brown, black or women, with only a few exceptions, such as two White men wearing masks in the background on a NYC street. The only positive image of a White boy is one actively playing chess with a brown boy. And here is the final image of a White boy:
There’s never meaningful variation in this script: an Asian boy is passively pouting, while a brown girl sternly (and morally) lectures the culprit — a little White bully. And not just White but decidedly Nordic. Remember, for propaganda to be effective, the message must be endlessly repeated: “White Boy Bad!” And it’s quite an audience they have: “Over 6 million students read Scholastic News every week!” Incidentally, I don’t see much reading material from Scholastic, as it is composed overwhelmingly of pictures, images that are meant to instill an anti-White agenda, not boost reading skills. In other words, it’s of a piece with almost all public education material.

I cannot be sanguine about the world my grandchildren will grow up in, for the reasons just seen. So much has changed in my own lifetime, from a childhood that was overwhelmingly White (and Christian) to this multicultural dystopia. (Two good quotes come to mind, beginning with “White genocide [is] euphemistically presented as ‘multiculturalism,’” and “Multiculturalism is just the majority being gaslighted into a long, drawn-out suicide …”
Which reminds me, as a member of the America Association of Retired People, I receive messages from them both online and in the snail mail. This is what I routinely see:
Conclusion

I could write so much in this conclusion, but let me stick to three points. First, we have an enemy, and that enemy has long chosen us. Second, because of the unceasing “Culture of Critique” efforts of our enemy, “The white male has become the monstrous Other in his own nation, a nation he does not recognize and that no longer recognizes him.” Finally, this “monstrous Other” must recognize this existential threat, organize, and do something. It’s really that simple.

Our Adversary

I won’t linger on this topic because this site grows out of Kevin MacDonald’s “Culture of Critique” and readers are likely familiar with the many articles comprising the Jews as a Hostile Elite category on TOO. The identity of our adversary should be well known. (It’s even in the Bible.) In fact, there was even a time before Charlottesville when one of the founding beliefs of the Alt-Right (as we used to call it) was that Whites were locked in a fierce battle with organized Jewry. Really, to understand almost everything written on TOO, one must understand and accept this premise.

For instance, we’ve had articles documenting the overwhelmingly Jewish identity of the Bolshevik Party and their cruel depredations against innocent Russian and Ukrainian White Christians. We’ve seen the financial crimes committed by heavily Jewish financiers. We’re read about intellectual subversion in dozens of articles. We are convinced this is a real and ongoing onslaught.

Perhaps for a normie, I suggest people stop trying to see this from a White perspective. Instead, look at what Jews themselves are thinking, writing, acting upon. One of my favorites in this respect (and it fits well in an essay on visual images) comes from a Jew in Italy who creates artworks in glass. This artist, Gianni Toso, in 1969 created a stunning set called “Jews vs. Catholics.” THIS, I am convinced, represents the mentality of the Jewish community:

![Image of a chess set with Jewish and Catholic figures]

Now to put this in the context of the present article’s focused domain, we must understand that only one group today has the power and intent of destroying our civilization, and one of the many ways they do this is through advertising, something almost none of us can escape. The message is that soon they intend to come for our very existence — our very lives. Literally. So many of us Whites are still fat and happy, and we’re not seeking war with anyone, so we are unaware. But always remember what German philosopher Carl Schmitt wrote: “It’s not only you who chooses your enemy, it’s more often your enemy who chooses you.” White man, brace yourself.

Again, there is no way this sudden visual elimination of White males can be explained in any other way than I have above. As a good friend who knows more about these things than almost anyone else writing in English recently told me, "Everything in contemporary society is top-down, ersatz, and coerced. Nothing reflects normal culture or human behavior. It ALL comes down to unrestrained power and the evil, fanatical nature of the Jews and Communists who now rule the globe without opposition."

Becoming “The Monstrous Other”
I know that the vast majority of TOO readers have either read “Culture of Critique” or know its arguments well. MacDonald and other writers here have provided years of further evidence for attacks on Western Civilization. Myself, I have focused on Hollywood fare, other popular culture, and finance. Becoming “The Monstrous Other” was done largely through Hollywood and other popular culture, while finance was a crucial way for that to happen. Of course, Jews have been in the fore of other areas that promote this process as well — as politicians promoting non-white immigration and anti-White “civil rights,” as leaders in academia and lower ranks of education, and in the courts. While the TOO audience may find nothing new here, now is the time to find which parts of the TOO message are right to share with “normie” friends and acquaintances. We can no longer remain silent.

What to Do
I realize the events related to Charlottesville in the summer of 2017 scared a lot of White activists, and to this day many innocent Whites continue to suffer from it. But if Whites intend to survive, there is no other way than to accept that this struggle to the death is real. Very soon after, we must organize, produce a defense, then ultimately an offense. To do this, one thing we absolutely must do is stow the egos and stop the infighting. This is a test for Whites to rise about self in order to secure our continued existence and flowering of our race.

Personally, I’m of the opinion that TOO is not the place to openly discuss, let alone implement, the more viable of these ideas. Nor, for that matter, is the compromised Internet in general safe. In the comments section below, we can discuss preliminaries to all this but we’d better hurry because time has never been shorter. A great slaughter could happen any day now. As I say, brace yourselves.

To sum up, here is the take-away from this photo essay. Know that the Western world is under the control of a nearly omnipotent force that is capable of creating “reality” on command. How else would ALL media, at the flip of a switch, beginning running images that completely leave out White males? We have a right to exist, and that right extends to being visible. As a matter of course, we should be able to see people like us everywhere, for we created this country and still constitute a majority.

By way of comparison, consider this. Recently the New York Times blared the headline “Pope Francis Appoints First African-American Cardinal” and noted “how important it was for young Black Catholics to see a bishop who looked like them.” Fair enough from a black point of view. But it is fairer still for a much larger majority to see people who look like us. We Whites deserve to and MUST be seen again. And in ways of our choosing.

We are not seen, however, because an enemy has grossly distorted reality with the illest intent. And we cannot ignore this, just like the protagonist Connor family could not ignore the cyborg stalking them in the 1984 film, “The Terminator.” The man sent to save this family tells the mother, “That Terminator is out there, it can’t be bargained with, it can’t be reasoned with, it doesn't feel pity, or remorse, or fear. And it absolutely will not stop, ever, until you are dead.”

The Original Sin of Our Skin Color

My ideas here are neither unique nor obscure, and countless Whites have noted the same things, often in ways better than I have. It is no surprise that these ideas are everywhere, for they are inescapable, as our adversary has ratcheted up its assaults to a new level, so that now we Whites collectively face “Condition Red.” Post-election, this is so pressing that former chairman of the British National Party Nick Griffin penned the essay Wither America?, which appeared the very week I’m writing a polished draft of this essay. His words jibe with everything I’ve said:

> In the time of darkness now settling on America, everyone is going to be a ‘minority’. But the largest, hardest working, most practically competent, minority will be Christian Americans of European descent. With every year that goes by, they will feel more and more painfully the pressure of discrimination, injustice, exploitation, and every form of abuse up to and including murder. The experience will collectivise our people. The endearing but deadly tendency to think and act in terms of ‘I’ and ‘me’, will turn into an unbeatable habit of thinking in terms of ‘we’ and ‘us’.

> Many will fall by the wayside. Many will sell their souls in a vain effort to ‘integrate’ and to be forgiven for the Original Sin of their skin colour and their heritage. But great pain is a great teacher, and great pain is on the way for the people who built America and then carelessly let their elected and unelected leaders hand it over to a coalition of forces who hate, despise and still fear them.
White men and women, use these images first to kindle in yourself a rage that we are being erased. If you’ve already long had that rage, kindle it to a red-hot degree. Find the best way to share these images, especially with the masses of Whites who no longer do meaningful reading. Share the video links. We know that images impact a different area of the brain, a more primal, primitive one. We have no time left, so we have to jumpstart our race’s will and ability to survive.

Most of us face now only pictures of people who do not look like us, but rest assured that our enemy will be using people like that to further replace us, and a truly painful part of that process will be by killing us. I can’t state it more bluntly than that. Fight back. Now.
